Real classes

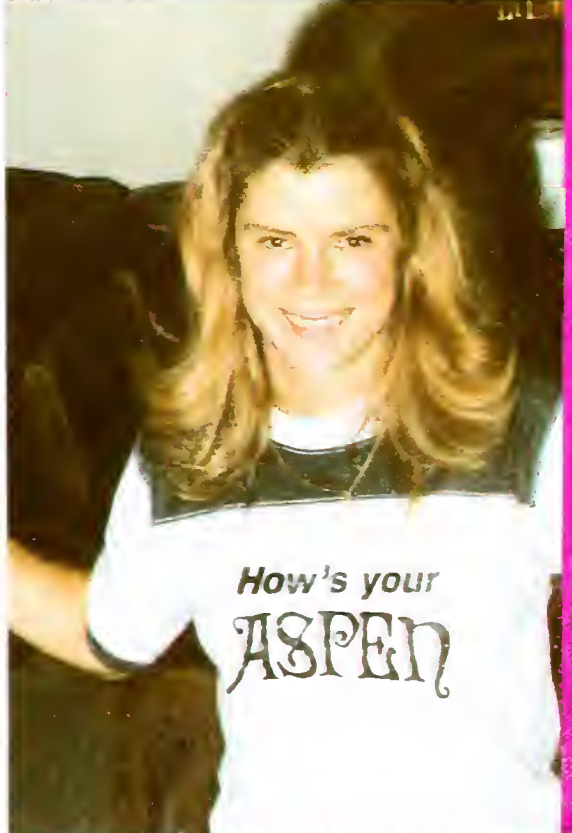

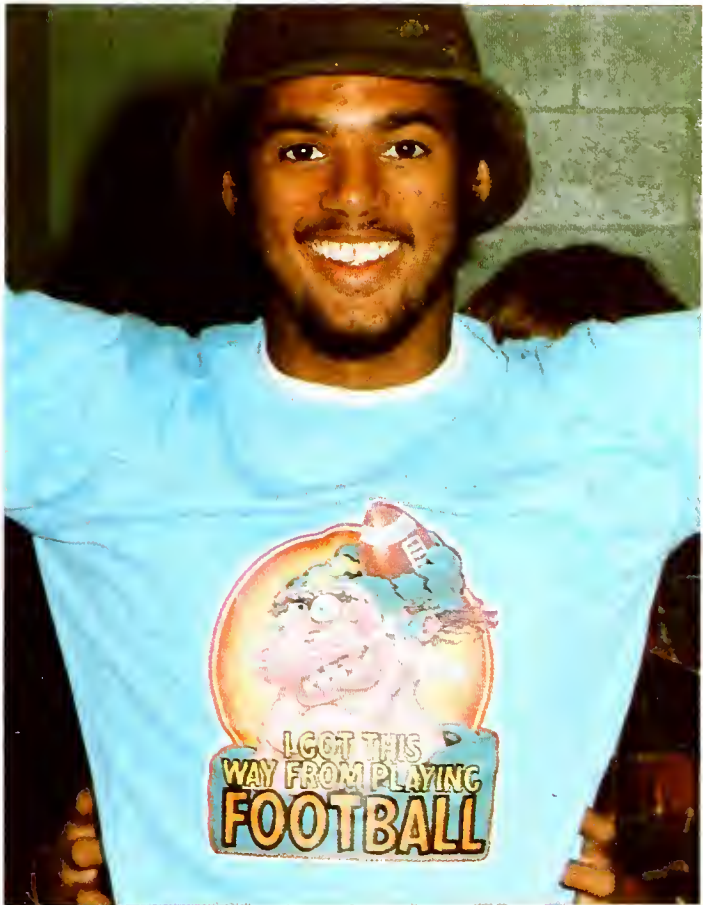

Real students who listen to real instructors at BCCC include:
Second row: Jacque Mc Donough, Julie Slater, Mojgan Latifi.
Lower row: Dean Taft, Kim Counterman, Bruce Rose, Margie Ireland.

The T-shirt year

T-shirts proliferated the campus this year in every color, shape and description. Students and instructors became walking graffiti proclaiming their messages to the world. The t-shirt became the uniform of the campus. Modeling their unique apparel are: Top row (left to right) Cornelia Holloway, Gary Kunc, Lana Greenup, Brenda Hipps. Second row: Jim Gleason, David Woody, Roger Keesling, J.D. Johnson, Anne Kapps, Karen Adams. Bottom row: (grouping) Blair Benedict, Troy Bird, Mark Pennybacker, F.J. Van Anne; Wan-ita Miller, Mrs. Nita Moriarty, Linda Manning, Carmen Abate, Glenda Boone.

Homecoming '79

Adams was nominated by the cross country team, and escorted by Mark Pennybacker, a freshman from Overland Park, who was nominated by the football team.

The Homecoming festivities began with a morning parade. First prize of $25 was awarded to DECA for the "best decorated float."

Fun is where you find it, working or playing. Having fun are (Facing Page) upper left, Delbert Logsdon; right, Quentin Curl and Tommy Brozelle. Washing the car, Tony Haltiwanger, Curl, and Henry Jackson; Ivan Chrisman, Brenda Wedman. This page: (top row) Regina Brown. Second row, Natham Ham. Lower photo, Carlos Cardwell. At the laundromat: Bill Holtom and Bob Watt; Frank Whitsell.

REAL FRESHMEN

Freshmen enrollment holds steady

Gasoline shortages and rising prices did not affect the total number of students at BCCC this year although there were reports of declining enrollments at many schools. This year's enrollment stretched to 1,938 from 1,894 a year ago.

The number of students who commute long distances showed a decrease, and the largest contributor of students to BCCC was Butler county. Many students formed car pools or moved into El Dorado to save on the near $1 a gallon gas.

Real freshmen wandered onto campus this year bringing with them good old fashioned high school spirit. Freshmen worked together with sophomores to raise the level of enthusiasm for the school.

One such enthusiastic freshman was Mike Musick, who became one of the Grizzly mascots and charmed football crowds along with sophomore Tony Peak, another bear mascot. Angela Chitwood was the only freshman on the drill team. Candy Lay and Shannon Randall were freshmen cheerleaders.

Freshman Bruce Shreiner was named assistant sports editor and freshman Cindy Schuler was entertainment editor on The Lantern.

Early arrivals on the campus this year were all the freshmen who had to enroll in a mandatory course, Orientation 007. Students were required to visit with counselors at BCCC to learn about college and to get help in planning their careers. Peer counseling began this year with freshman Larry Owens becoming BCCC's first peer counselor. He worked on a one-to-one basis with the students.

The campus welcomed a John Travolta lookalike — David Doyle, a wide-receiver for the Grizzly team. David roomed with a freshman football player, Mark Pennybacker, who many thought looked like Kent-the-Barbie Doll.

Pennybacker was also named football homecoming king. Freshman Karen Adams was named queen for the football homecoming.

An all-school dance the first week of school honored the freshmen and helped them get acquainted. Other social events followed during the year.

REAL SOPHOMORES

Sophomore enrollment up

Sophomore enrollees increase this year to 507 compared to 493 last fall. Many leaders of BCCC's organizations were second year students.

One active organization was the Student Activity Council, whose officers were sophomores. Council officers included Glenda Boone, president; Lori Carr, vice-president; and Dianne Graves, secretary-treasurer.

Another organization staffed primarily by sophomores was the Lantern, student newspaper. Sophomore staff members included Bob Woelk, Phyllis Webster, Becky Filener, Tharon Schraeder, Bill Hulston, Nathan Ham, Larry Allison, Mark Howard, Bruce Rose, Glenda Riddle, and Kathy Tharp.

2ND SEMESTER

Spring enrollment declined 10 percent compared to the fall credit hour count. The total number of credit hours lost between the two semesters reached 1,679, although the loss between spring semester 1979 and 1980 was only 198.

The official head count dropped eight percent bringing the count down to 1,783 from 1,938 in the fall.

Ev Kohls, registrar, cited low area unemployment as a contributing factor to the declining enrollment figures.

Basically, there is an abundance of area employment opportunities, and that means that only drunks, derelicts or those who don't want to work are unemployed," Kohls said.

Another factor was the energy crunch. Student commuters could no longer drive long distances to attend college. A larger-than-normal number of mid-term graduates, contributed to the decline, also.

The Advisement, Retention and Recruitment Committee on campus also concluded that the biggest reason BCCC students leave school is the employment opportunities. Bill Trent, chairman of the committee cited jobs as the number one reason, personal problems second, lack of interest third, illness fourth and financial problems fifth.

ADMINISTRATION FACULTY STAFF

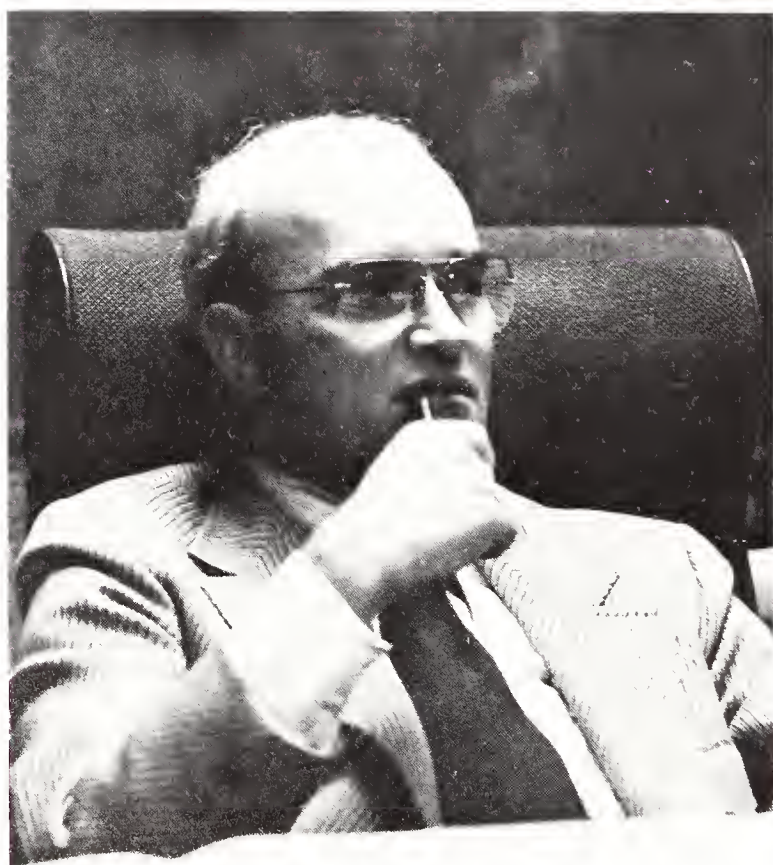

The President

Dr. Carl Heinrich, president of the college, completed his ninth semester as chief administrator on the campus at Butler County Community College this spring.

Perhaps the single most important task for the president this academic year was to meet with the North Central Association accrediting visitation committee and present to it the college's self-evaluation report which faculty and administration members had been preparing for the past year. The visit took place in October, and the school was re-accredited for six years.

A slightly declining enrollment and a mounting energy crisis were two areas of concern for the president during the year. Dr. Heinrich appointed special committees to study both areas. Exploring new avenues of study to attract more students to the college was another activity of the president. He emphasized that although nationally college enrollments are dropping, he felt that BCCC could hold its own by offering education to all groups of peoples at all age levels in the community.

Many factors make a college effective. These include people, programs, and facilities.

Although facilities and programs are important, it is the college personnel and students who make our college a living institution. I can say, without reservation, this college is alive with enthusiastic and dedicated people.

We are constantly in the process of updating and expanding our programs to meet the needs of the students and citizenry of the community.

May I take this opportunity to commend the Board of Trustees, administrators, faculty, staff and students for their cooperation in making Butler County Community College a living institution. — Carl Heinrich

2 new Trustees elected to Board

Two new members were elected and took their places on the Board of Trustees for this school term at the all county elections held last spring. Keith Martin, El Dorado business man, and Pat McGee, Augusta banker, were elected to four year terms on the BCCC Board. James Hittle was re-elected to a four year term.

Board members comprise the governing body to whom President Heinrich reports. The Trustees are the policy makers for the college, and they must approve all major changes in both the physical structures and in personnel. The Board must approve bills, warrants, and major purchases.

The North Central Accrediting Association visited the campus this year for purposes of denying or extending the college's accreditation. After the visit, the Board was informed that the accreditation had been extended for a period of six years with specific recommendations.

The Board is giving serious consideration to additional housing as a top priority to improving campus facilities.

Several of the Board members attended state and national conferences to gain insight in solving problems of the community college.

Many administrators

Dean of Student Services, William Cummins, was in charge of financial aid and scholarship awards. The supervision of student activities was also a major duty of Dean Cummins.

Ron Wilson, Dean of Instruction, took care of the curriculum of the college, and directed all faculty personnel.

The handling of transcript and the directing of admissions were the responsibility of Everett Kohls, Director of Admissions.

Lynda Gardner, Director of Financial Affairs, was responsible for all financial transactions of the college.

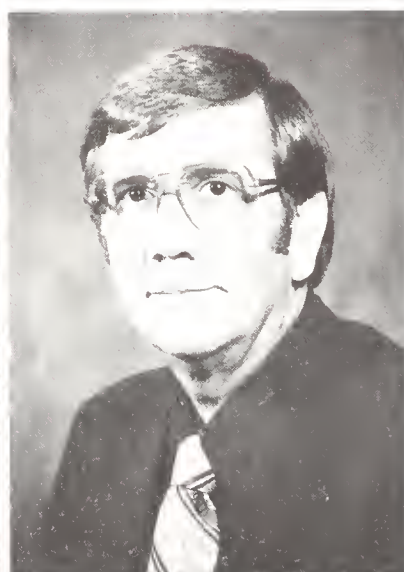

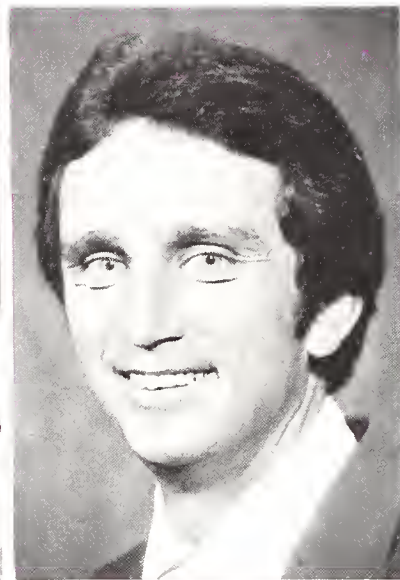

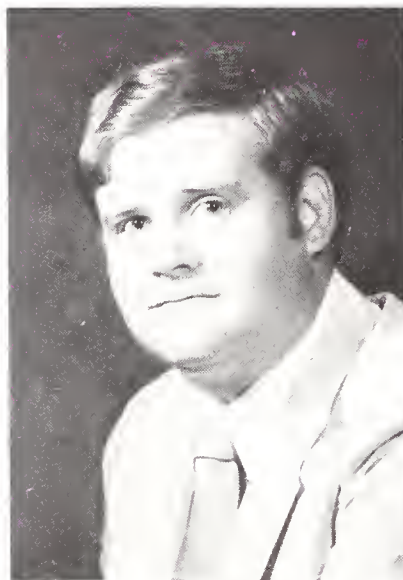

Dr. Frank Veeman, Educational Director at McConnell AFB, was a new staff member this year. Veeman coordinated courses at McConnell which are offered on that campus by BCCC.

Phil Anderson, Admissions Counselor and Recruiter, was also new on the administrative staff.

Jean Plummer, Director of Public Information, wrote press releases and kept the public informed on campus happenings this year.

Director of Buildings and Ground Phil Hudson was in charge of maintenance and repair of the physical campus.

Curt Shipley, a campus veteran, became a fulltime administrator this year. As well as being Athletic Director, he is in charge of the dormitory and Student Union facilities. He is not pictured.

No stereotype instructors found here

Faculty at BCCC are not known as the stereotyped teacher images standing behind large podiums giving length, boring lectures to a class room of sleepy students. Traditional teaching techniques were given a touch of flavor when faculty worked with students on class room projects, extra curricular activities, and accompanied them on field trips.

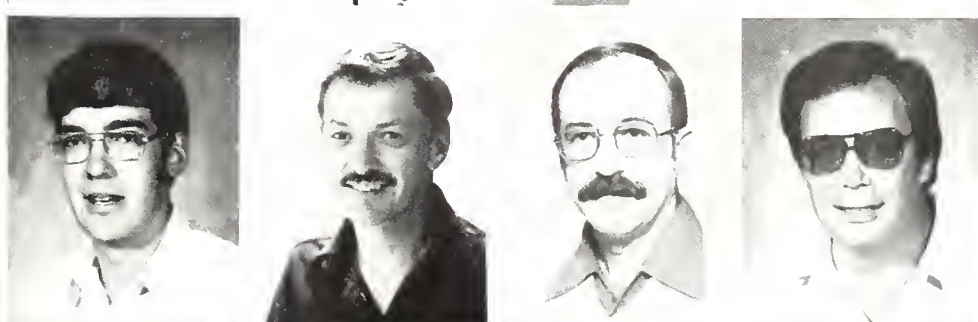

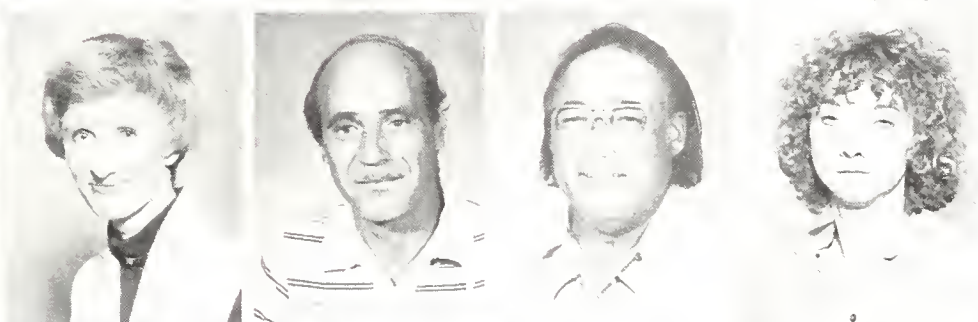

Many of the faculty members served as sponsors of student organizations. They helped students plan activities such as skating parties, dances, and money raising projects.

Faculty members were assigned as advisors to students whose majors corresponded with the field of the instructor. In this manner, students were able to schedule courses pertaining to their major with the help of faculty advisors.

In February, Gayle Krause, a mathematics instructor, was chosen as BCCC's Master Teacher of the seven Kansas Master Teacher awards to be announced later in the spring.

BCCC 'help-mates'

The "help-mates" to the faculty and administration are the secretaries, and the adjunctive help who are listed under various categories. These persons include the library assistants, the paraprofessionals, the bookkeepers, and various clerical help in the administration building.

Once a month the group meets for a "secretaries' luncheon" in the Student Union where the members share ideas and information.

Gridsters finish 4-6

Fifty-one gridders reported to the initial football practice under the direction of second year coach Fayne Henson. The veteran Grizzly club, which returned 15 lettermen hoped to improve last year's 3-7 record to battle for Jayhawk Conference title.

In Butler's opening game of the season, a disappointing 13-12 loss to Pratt, a pattern of dropping close games was established. The Grizzlies outplayed Pratt statistically, but lost a lead they had held during a majority of the contest late in the game.

In the second week of the season, the Grizzlies again saw their lead evaporate as the Prep School of the Air Force Academy handed the Grizzlies their second straight defeat.

Against Fort Scott, Butler County was an underdog for the first time this season. The Greyhounds were expected to be a tough force, but the Grizzlies recorded their first win of the year by squeaking past Fort Scott 15-13.

The newly found momentum did not last long, as Dodge City took the wind out of Butler's sails, downing the team 10-7.

Coffeyville provided a stiff challenge for Butler the following week with the Red Ravens hailed as one of the top teams in the nation. The Red Ravens rolled past Butler 17-6 in a defensive battle.

Of all the losses experienced throughout the year, the defeat at the hands of Cowley County during homecoming weekend had to be the most bitter. Cowley put a damper on the festive mood when they came roaring back from a 20-6 lead by the Grizzlies in the third period to capture a heart-stopping 21-20 victory.

BCCC broke a three-game losing streak, hammering Highland 19-13.

The Grizzlies did not disappoint the large Parents' Night crowd the following week, as Butler corraled Independence 23-12.

Dwayne Crutchfield riddled the Grizzly defense with a number of electrifying runs to lead the explosive Garden City Broncbusters to a 47-21 win in the final home game.

In the final game of the season, the Grizzlies pulled out a 14-12 comeback win over the Hutchinson Blue Dragons in the waning moments of the contest.

Butler County finished the season with a marginal 4-6 record, but five of the defeats Butler sustained were by a total margin of 20 points.

Dale Remsberg was assistant football coach.

Grizzlies honored

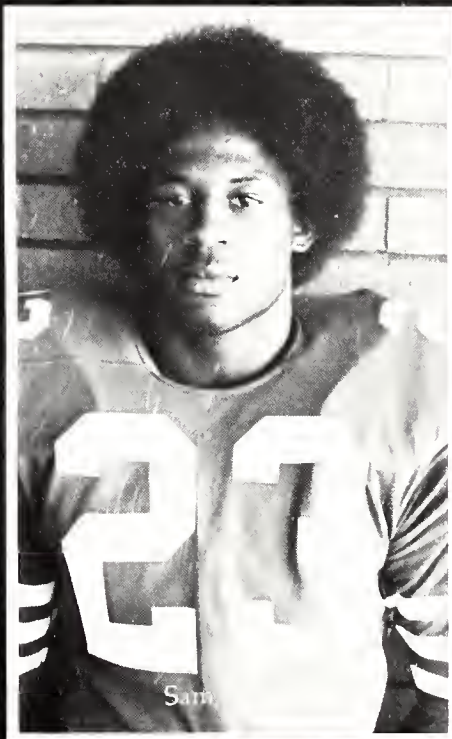

Six Grizzlies were selected for All-Conference honors at the conclusion of the season. Making first team were full-back Braxton Williams, who galloped for over 1000 yards in rushing, and offensive tackle Darryl Boucher.

Second team selections were tight end John Preut, defensive lineman Ivan Chrisman, defensive end Dion Fellows, and defensive Back Sam Suggs.

One Letterman Returns

Only one letterman returned to the BCCC golf squad in the fall. Tharon Schraeder, sophomore from Council Grove along with Doug Rlat from St. Mary's, Jim Irons of Wellington and Rusty Pinkerton, Argonia, were all second year linksmen under the guidance of new coach Felix Adams.

The sophomores on the team were joined by Mike Thom of El Dorado, Jim Irons, Jim Reber of Anthony, Drew Combs, Wichita, Dave Duncan, Andover and Mike Trayler, El Dorado.

The Grizzly golfers got off to a slow start placing sixth in the Hesston Invitational followed by a seventh place finish in the Dodge City tournament. The team climbed to sixth again in the Independence designated tournament.

Butler County finished the disappointing season by hosting its own invitational at the El Dorado Country Club.

New coach, new team

It was an experimental period for first year coach Phil Anderson during the fall baseball season, with 32 hopefuls reporting to the initial practice on August 20.

Not only did Anderson have to become acquainted with the players but he also implemented a new philosophy to the program, as each new coach usually does.

Anderson is no stranger to Grizzly Country, graduating from BCCC in 1969. Previously, Anderson served as athletic director, football, basketball and track coach at Bluestem High School. He received his baseball experience by coaching the Babe Ruth squad at Leon for several years.

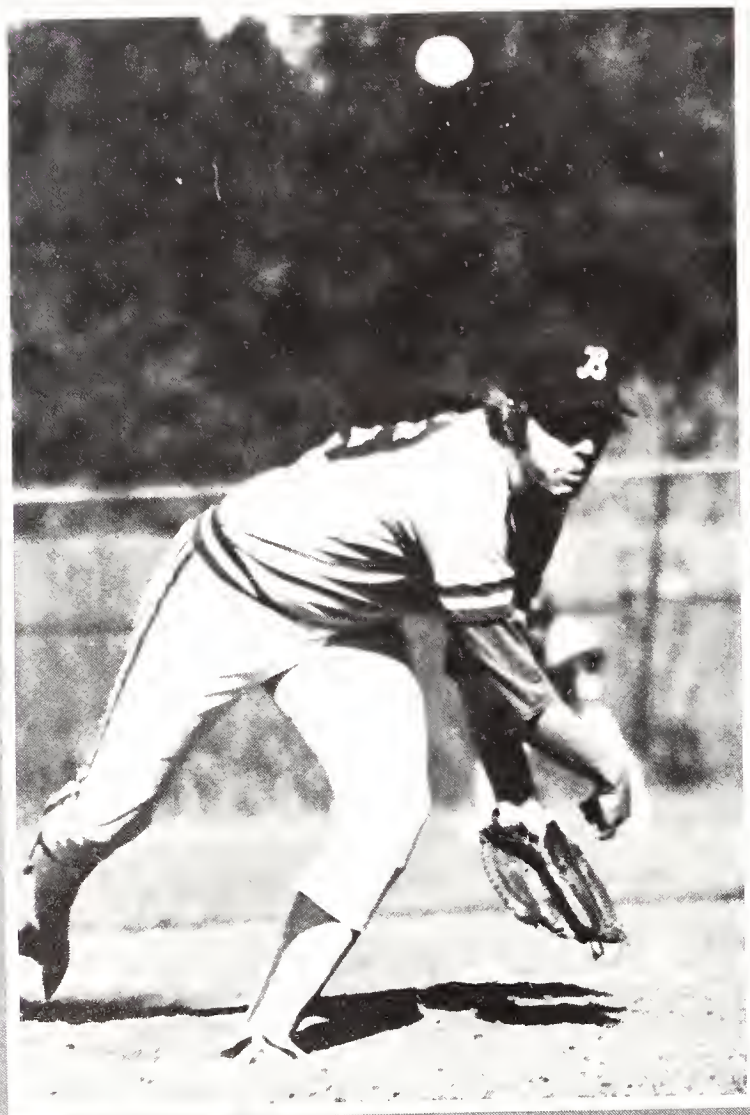

BCCC participated in a hectic schedule that included a number of scrimmages. After a sluggish start in the fall season, which is primarily a practice season that can be compared to spring training, the Grizzlies ended by winning five of their last six games.

The Grizzlies faced a demanding schedule that included four-year schools like Emporia State and Kansas Newman.

According to Anderson, the Grizzlies possess a stingy defense that is getting better. Anderson added the Bears already contain some fine pitchers and the pitching staff should improve in the spring when three recruits recently signed by Anderson will be donning a Grizzly uniform.

A large portion of the fall schedule was devoted to giving everyone an opportunity to gain playing experience.

X-Country National 10th

The Butler harriers had quite a successful year in 1979 winning five meets while placing runners-up in two others. The Grizzlies wound up second in the Region VI meet in El Dorado and then went on to finish 10th in the nation at the NJCAA Championships in Wichita. Jim Gleason was the Bears number one man at the Region VI and had a 24:49 for his best time during the year. Jeff Stein was the Grizzlies number one man at the NJCAA Finals placing 40th in 25:47. Coach Ollie Isom saw his 70th meet championship during the season, and had one of his teams in the top ten in the nation for the seventh time in 13 years as head coach.

Overall, Butler teams have piled up 71 meet wins and have finished in the top two in the regionals 9 of 11 years.

Volleyball team ends season 10-13

It was a season of maturing, sharpening the various skills needed to master volleyball and growing accustomed to collegiate competition for BCCC's womens volleyball team.

Twelve women reported to practice at the start of the fall semester with ten of the women freshmen. Team members included Tina Holtz, Terri Crisco, Belinda Brown, Shannon Randol, Jody Utz, Towanda Paschal, Cathy Denton, Cary Morris, Sally Lucas, Debbie Lee, Diane Bohannon and Linda Padgett. Belinda Brown was the only returning member.

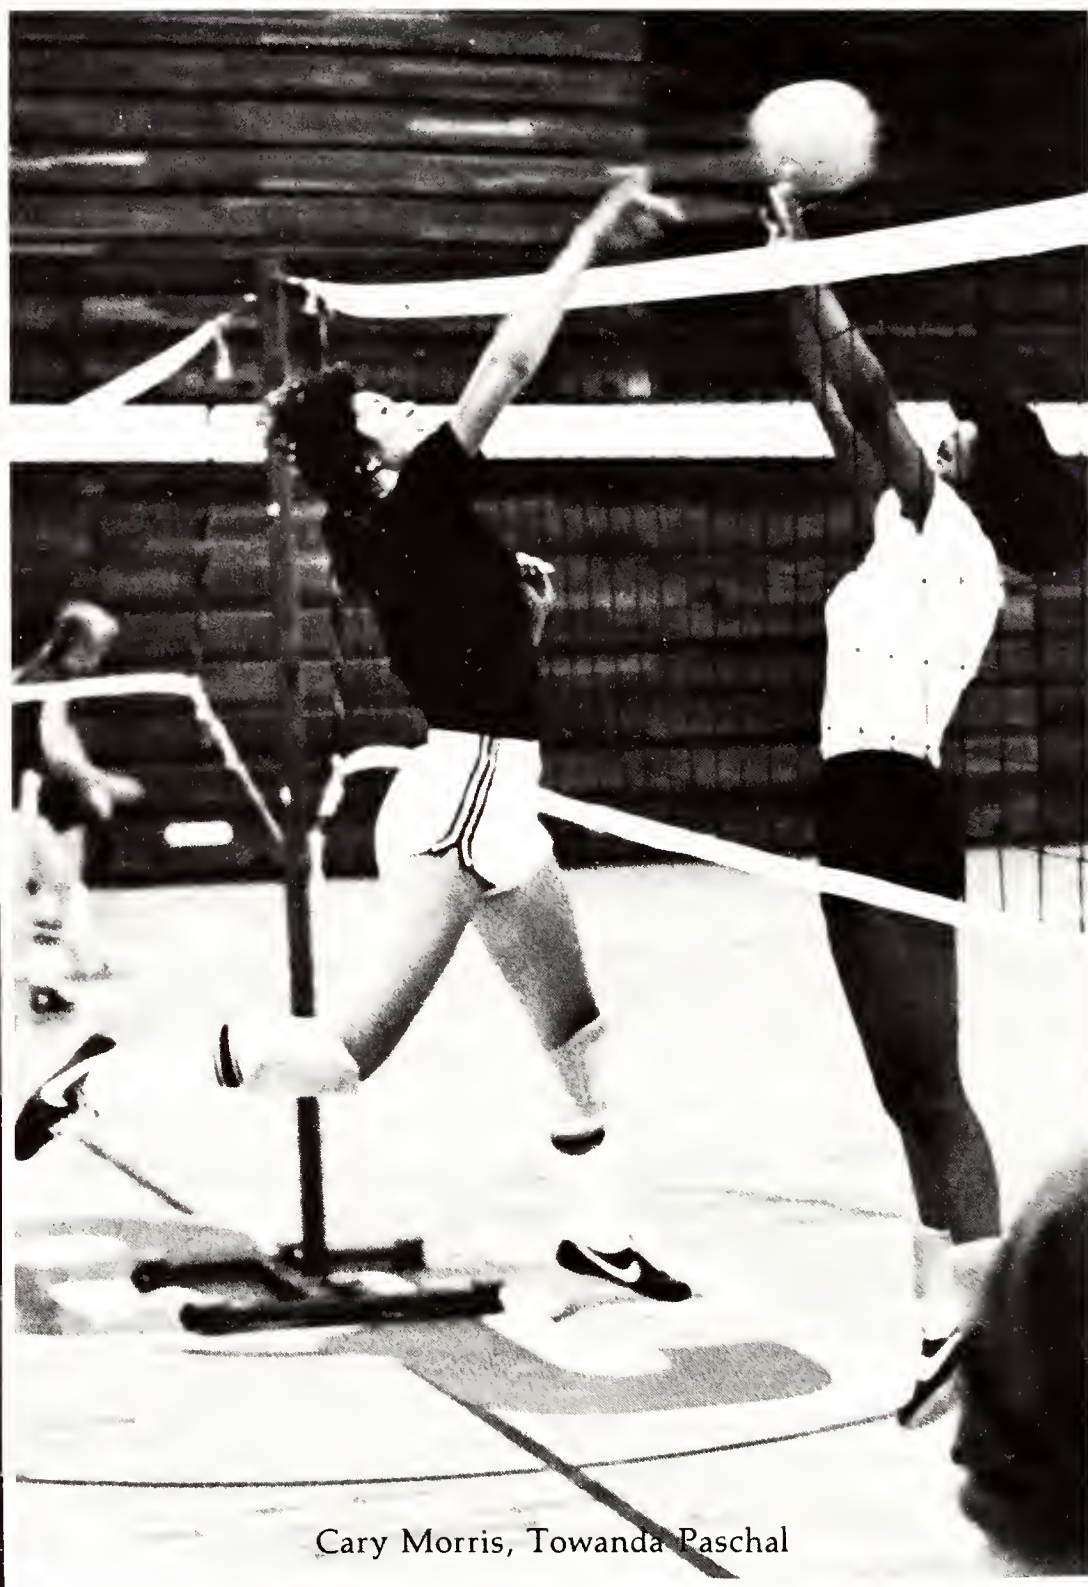

The Grizzlies, under the direction of coach Debbie Sawtelle, finished the season with a respectable 10-13 record, but experienced a disappointing second half of the season.

Butler's spikers started off by winning seven of their first nine contests. The Grizzlies lost their momentum at the stage of the season, dropping eleven games while winning only three.

BCCC was eliminated early in the sub-regionals held at Colby, as the Grizzlies were knocked off by Hesston 9-15, to abruptly end Butler's hopes of advancing to the regionals.

Basketball: 5-23

BCCC's basketball fortunes were under the realm of new head coach Jack Sutter, who arrived in Grizzly County via Illinois. Sutter quickly did a house-cleaning job on the style of play for the Grizzlies. Butler had been known primarily as a deliberate team that would not fast-break too often.

The freshman coach quickly changed that, stressing a running brand of basketball while exerting a pressure defense that included a full-court press.

As can be expected the Grizzlies did not perform like potential conference champions through the season, since it takes time for a basketball program to change styles and win consistently.

Many times during the season the Grizzlies played outstanding ball, challenging many of the top teams in the conference.

The Grizzlies finished the season with a 5-23 record and a last place finish in the Western Division of the Jayhawk Conference with a 2-10 mark.

Despite the shoddy record, the Grizzlies were involved in a heated race for a play-off spot, but lost it.

The season started successfully when the Bears flattened St. Johns in easy fashion. Unfortunately for the Grizzlies the St. Johns win was the climax for the season, for matters went downhill quickly.

The Grizzlies proceeded to drop their next seven games before returning to the victory column with a 90-79 win over Cloud County in consolation play in the Butler County tournament.

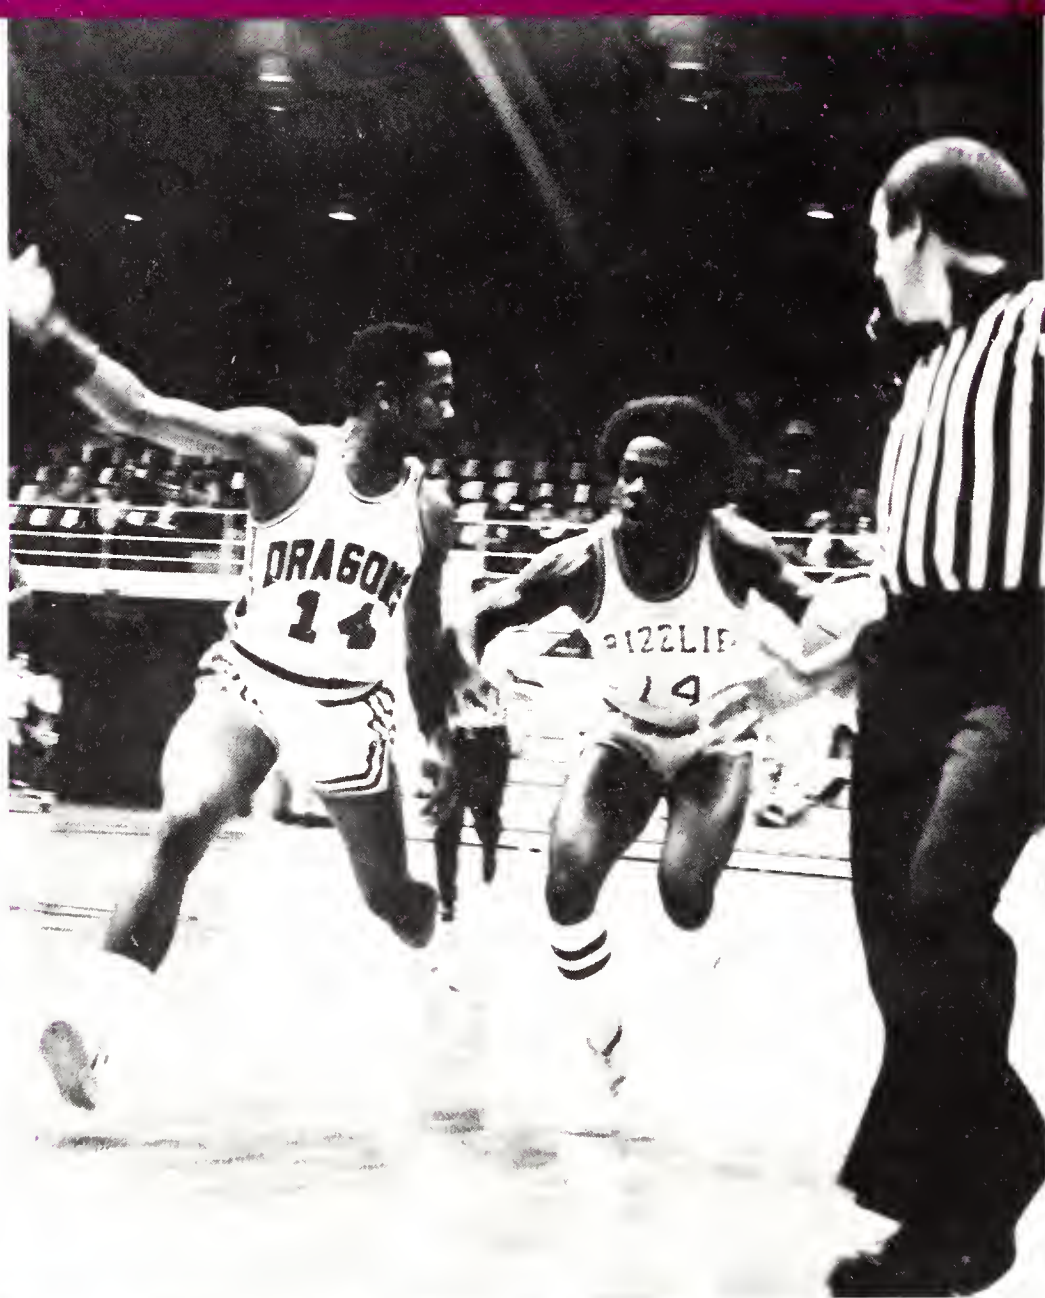

BCCC recorded one final non-conference win when Sutter's crew squeaked past Central McPherson 79-77 during consolation play in Cloud County tournament.

The second season, which is how many observers refer to conference play, resulted with further woes and headaches for the Grizzlies.

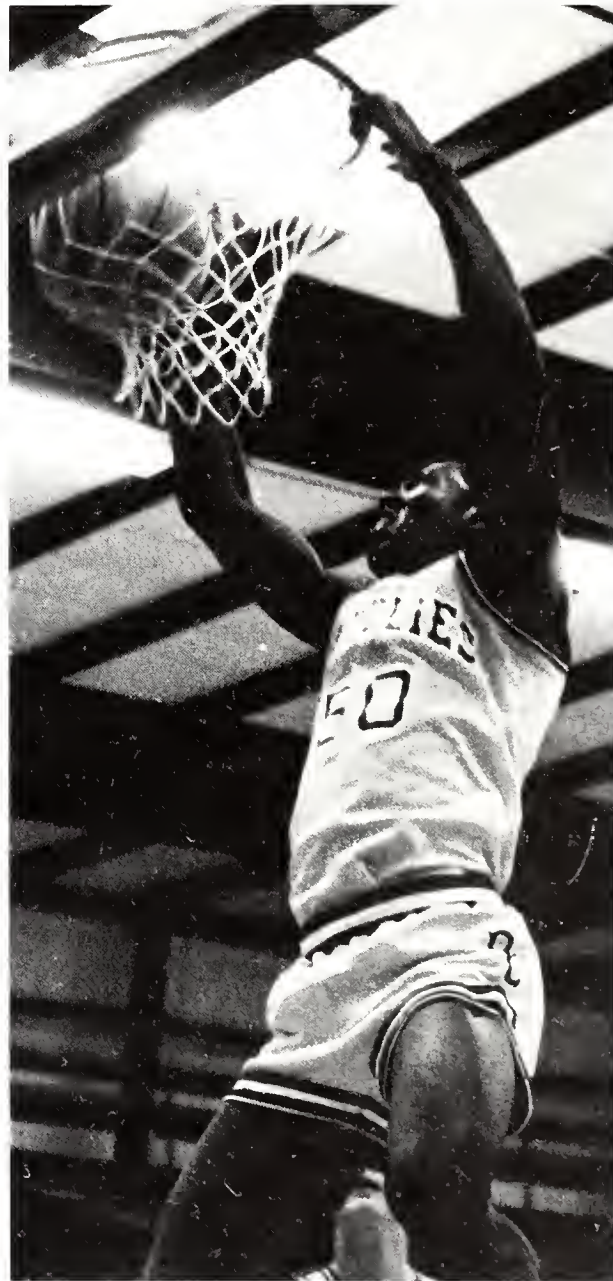

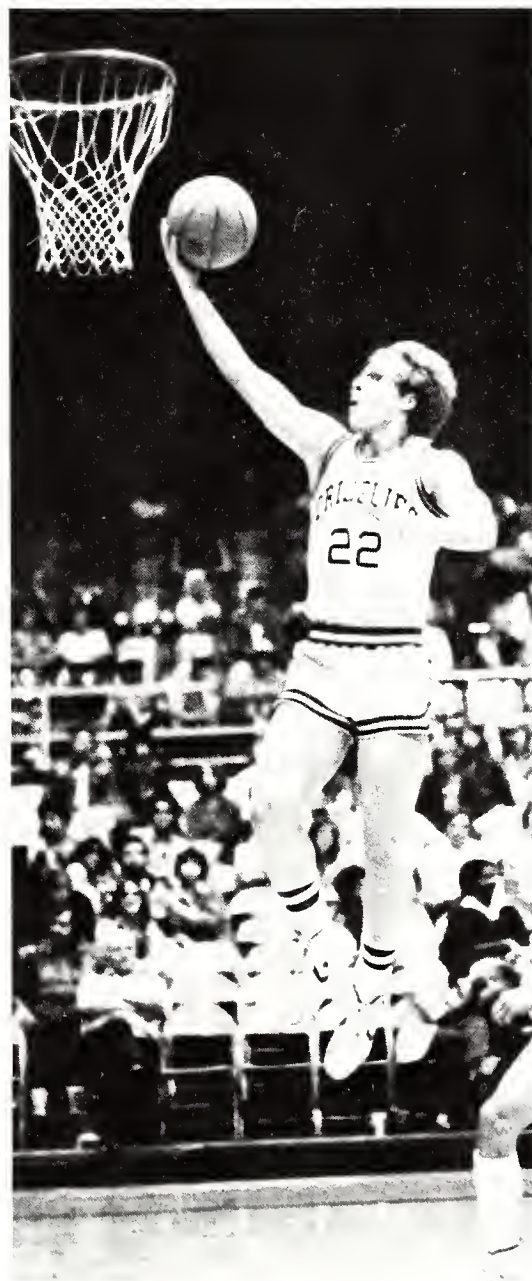

BCCC could only muster two wins in 12 conference games, wins over Seward County 78-63 with sophomore forward Tom Brozell Cannin 31 points and Garden City 84-76.

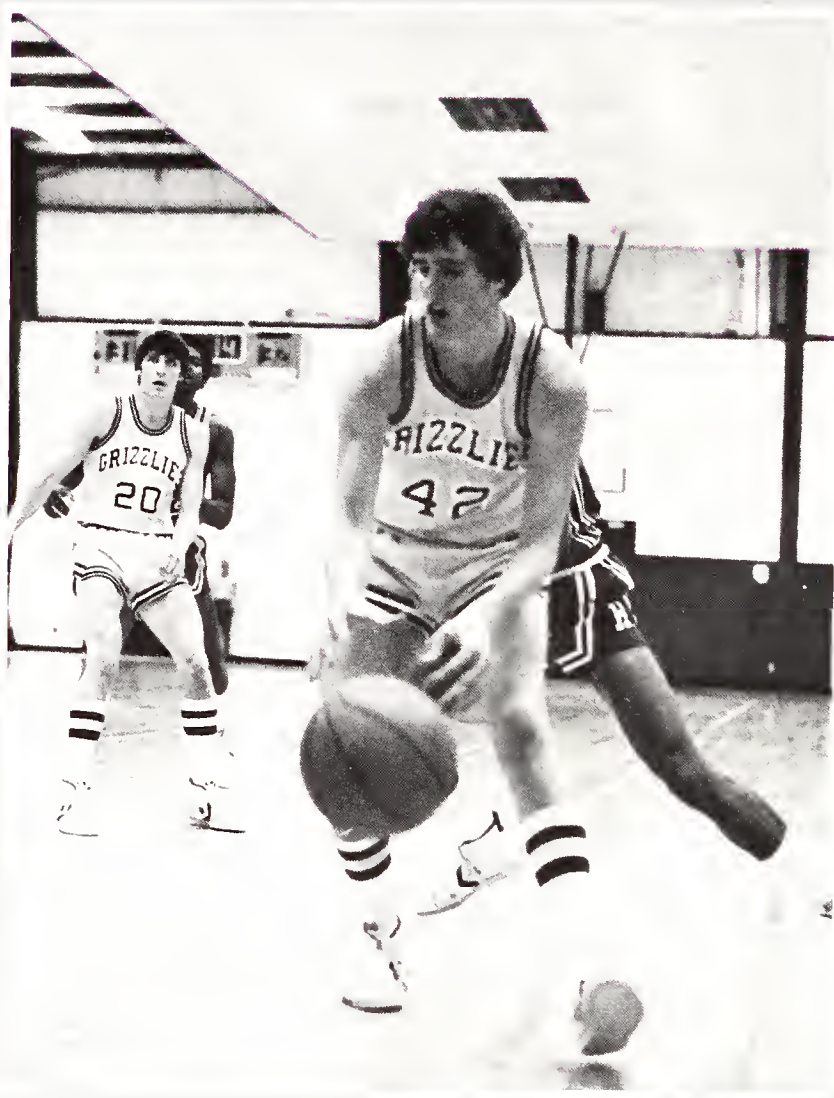

The Grizzlies had a number of cagers who compiled fine performances at one time or another during the long season. Brozell, freshmen Eric Coley and Joe Buntyn and sophomores Mike Klaver and Blair Benedict all carried the Grizzlies at different intervals of the campaign.

BCCC's squad consisted of many sophomores but two of the top performers for Butler, Coley and Buntyn, will return to pace the Grizzlies next season.

Bad season for fems

The end of an era was an appropriate way to phrase the women's basketball season.

Ev Kohls, the only coach the Grizzliettes program had ever kown, resigned after steering the women's squad for five years.

Unfortunately for the Grizzliettes, Kohls did not end with one of his more successful seasons; in fact it was the worst season the Butler women have ever suffered.

BCCC finished the season with a disappointing 3-23 record, which included a dismal 0-12 mark in Jayhawk Conference action.

Despite the poor record the Grizzliettes qualified for post-season action. Butler traveled to Barton County to battle the powerful Cougars in the first round of the Region IV tourney.

Butler was blasted by the Cougars in easy fashion to abruptly end Kohls coaching career that spanned 24 years.

The future looms bright for the Grizzliettes though since the squad consisted of only five sophomores.

Belinda Brown, sophomore guard, paced the skimpy Grizzliette offense, scoring in double digits consistently all season. One of the few highlights of the season occurred in the Barton County contest when Brown shattered the scoring record at BCCC.

Freshmen Tonia Worley and Anne Pettus also performed well during the season.

The three triumphs for BCCC occured during the early stages of the season. In the opening contest of the season the Grizzliettes pounded St. Johns of Winfield 63-38.

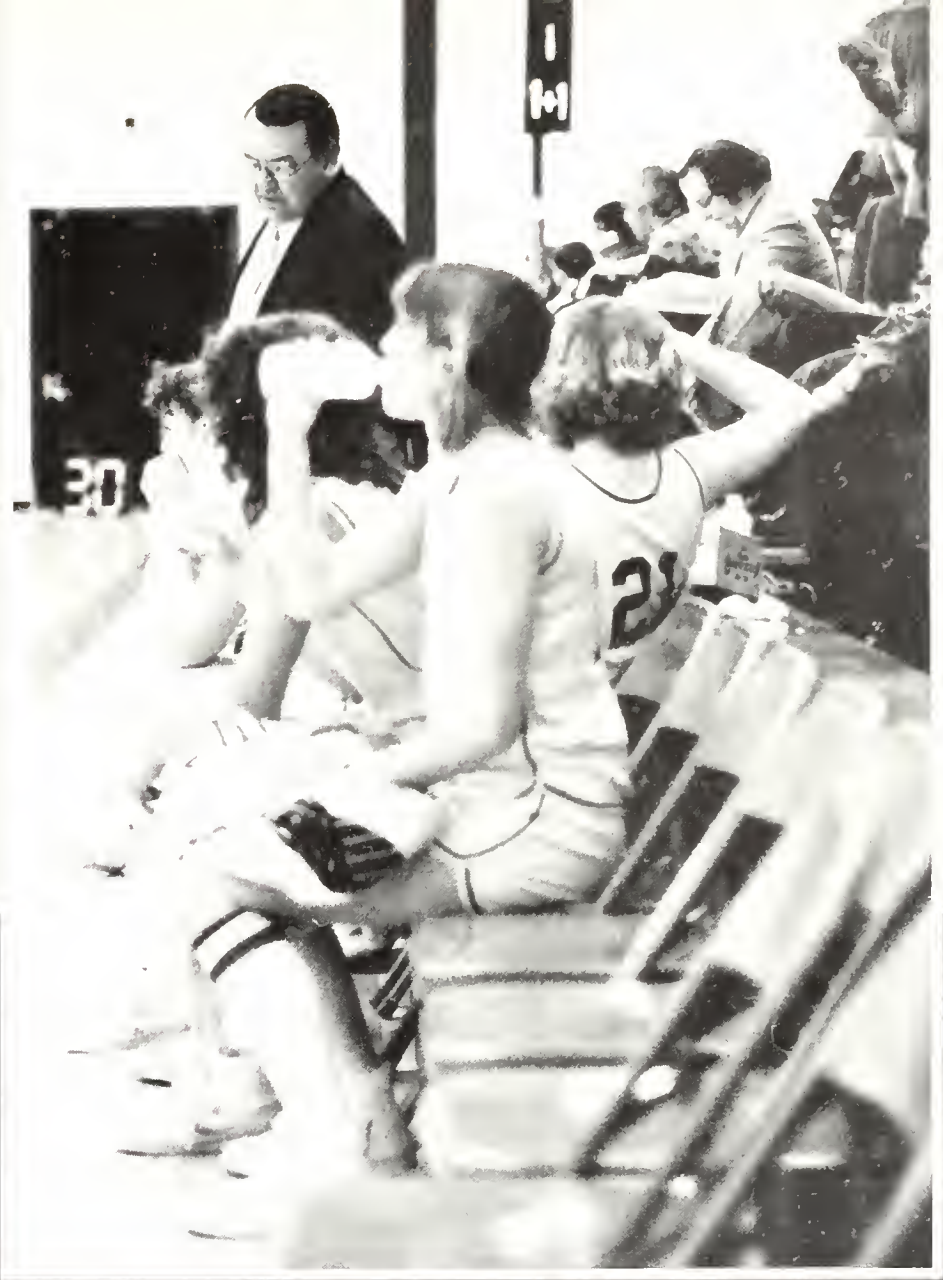

A balanced offensive attack, which resulted in four players scoring in double figures, powered the women past Kansas City 62-47. The final victory came against Haskell 75-50.

Kohls announced at the end of the season that he was retiring in order to devote more time to his duties as Registrar at the college.

Intramurals top popularity

Intramurals started off with a blast this year, as participation increased by nearly a hundred more students than last year. Jeanette Malone, physical education instructor, estimated that nearly 600 students participated. Miss Malone organized the many sports and added frisbee to the competition.

Captain Roger Marshall's Marauders were the undefeated flag football champions with a 3-0 mark in the Intramural League. Fifty-one students participated in this first sport of the year on four teams — the Individuals, Freakouts, Marauders, and Holtom's team.

Bob Nellans emerged the champion of the intramural singles tennis tournament, with Jerry Henn as the runner-up.

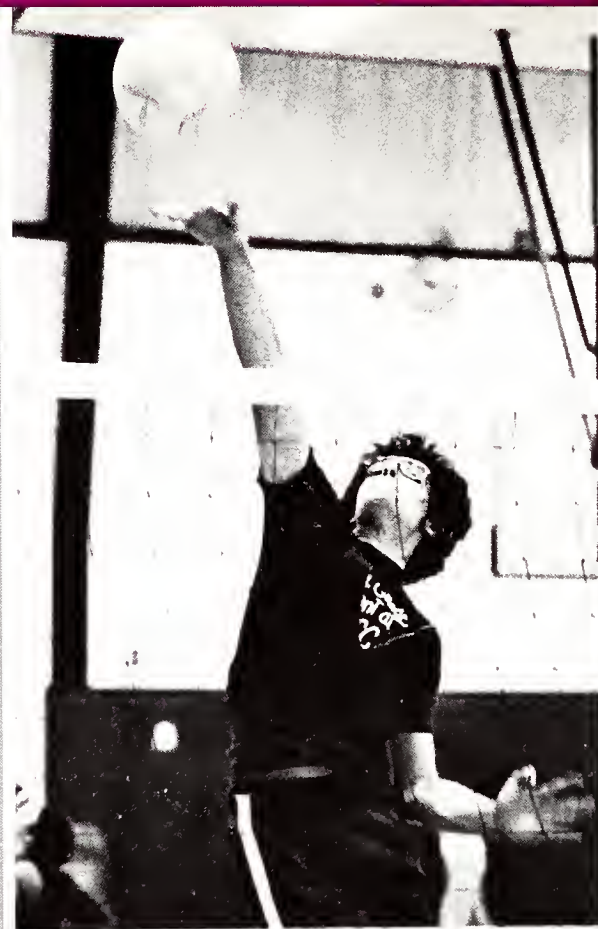

Winners of the Swap mixed doubles tournament were Anne Pettus, first in women's doubles; Barb Reeb, second in women's doubles; Jerry Henn, first in men's doubles; and Rusty Pinkerton, second in men's doubles.

The new sport of frisbee attracted several participants. The champions were Anita and Bob Woelk, first place with 148 points; Delbert Logsdon and Linda Manning, second with 120 points.

The Waxed Alleys won the fall bowling competition.

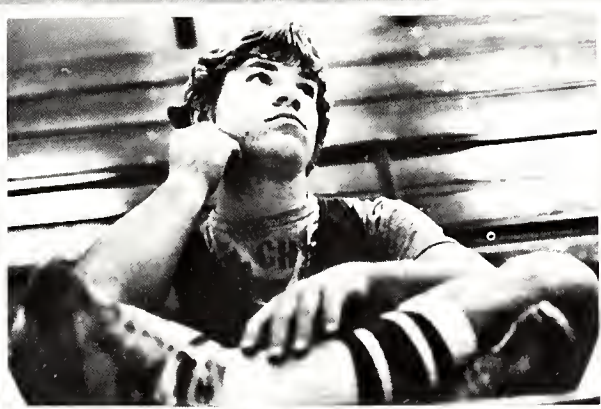

Right before Christmas break, the Aces, Who Done Its, and Hawks had joined the Marauders in a four-way tie for the No. 1 spot with records of 5-1. Bidwell's Bunch sat alone in second place at 4-2. Bringing up the bottom half of the race were the Tracketeers and Drop Kicks, 3-3; Fellars, Ball Bumpers, and Winners Take All, 2-4; and the winless One Hitters, 0-6. The volleyball games were to resume in January and the champions to be announced later.

Intramurals planned for spring included men's and women's intramural basketball, ping-pong, pool, softball, and mixed bowling.

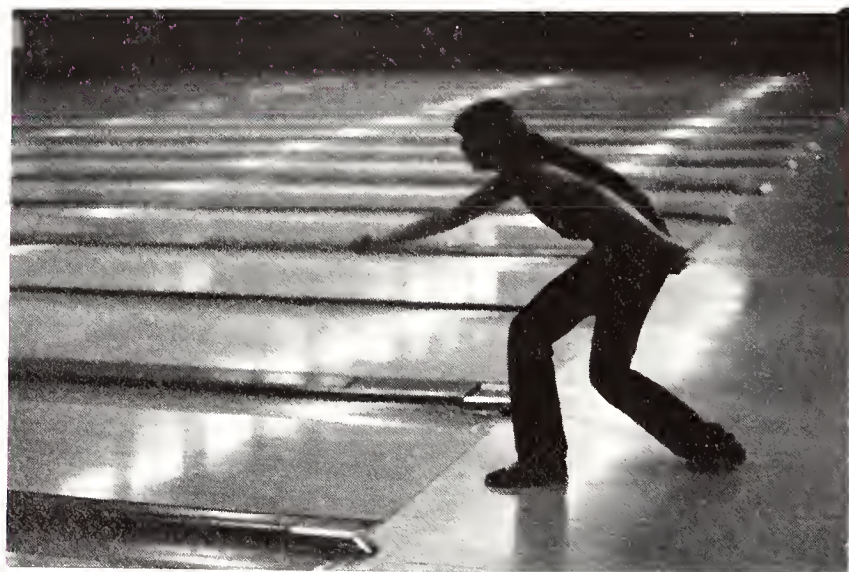

Mark Howard

GREAT FORM is exhibited by Carlos Cardwell as he flies through the air in an intramural volleyball game. Teammates Anita Woelk and Dena Bogart are amazed at Mark Howard as he attempts an intricate return in a volleyball game. Dena Bogart is also a contender in bowling. Swap mixed doubles tournament champions are Anne Pettus, Barb Reeb, Jerry Henn and Rusty Pinkerton.

IT'S EVERYONE'S game in intramurals with a game for everyone. Among those who found their games are Alan Keefer and Friends in volleyball. Torrin Eastin clutches her skirt in dismay watching the path of the bowling ball. Frisbee champions are (l. to r.) the brother-sister team of Anita and Bob Woelk and the second place team of Delbert Logsdon and Linda Manning.

Cheerleaders: Rah Rah

BCCC's cheerleaders sparked enthusiasm at both home and away athletic events, including the out of state football trip to Colorado Springs, Colorado. The cheerleaders consisted of five members, three sophomores and two freshman. Dawn Murphy and Traci Grissom attended a cheerleading camp at Baldwin, Kansas during the summer session.

The other members of the cheerleading team are Cornelia Holloway, Shannon Randol and Candi Lay. Deanna Maxton replaced Lay for the second semester.

Cheerleaders who are residents of Butler County are eligible for scholarships, but out of county cheerleaders are not.

The new sponsor for the cheerleaders this year is Ms. Debbie Sawtelle, first year women's coach and physical education instructor.

Drill team: a kick

It's not as easy as it looks! This is the impression Butler County fans got during Pommettes performance at many halftime ceremonies this year. The grace and beauty the pommettes displayed during the performances was obtained only through the many hours spent in practice and the dedication they showed.

Ten young ladies participated on the drill team this year: Chris Phillips, Gaye Wilcox, Glenda Jaeger, Karen Folger, and Glenda Boone were the returning members. Angela Allen, Margie Terrell, Diane Ziegler, Angela Chitwood, and Maria Harris were the newcomers to the group.

The summer drill team camp was held at Ottawa this year. Glenda Boone, Karen Folger, Chris Phillips, Diane Ziegler, and Maria Harris were the representatives for the Butler County Pommettes.

Each of the Pommette members received payment of their books by Butler County's Booster Club, and a scholarship for Butler County residents drill team participants.

EVERYBODY IN STEP is the hope of the Pomettes when they perform on the football field. Below, Karen Folger, Margie Terrell and Glenda Jaeger perform a skit at a pep rally. Left, Glenda Boone leads the drill team in a practice session.

The Lantern

BCCC students and faculty were enlightened on events concerning the campus and community each week by the student newspaper, The Lantern.

The highlight of the year was a trip to the ACP convention in San Francisco for Bob Woelk, Larry Allison, Mark Howard, Bill Holtom and Bill Bidwell, Lantern adviser.

Bob Woelk headed the editorial staff for both semesters as editor-in-chief. Phyllis Webster served as managing editor, Becky Filener was news editor, Larry Allison was in charge of financial affairs and Bill Holtom was chief photographer.

Tharon Schraeder headed the sports department for the first semester, Nathan Ham supervised the photo department, Bruce Rose was in charge of production and Mark Howard handled circulation. Glenda Riddle was advertising manager.

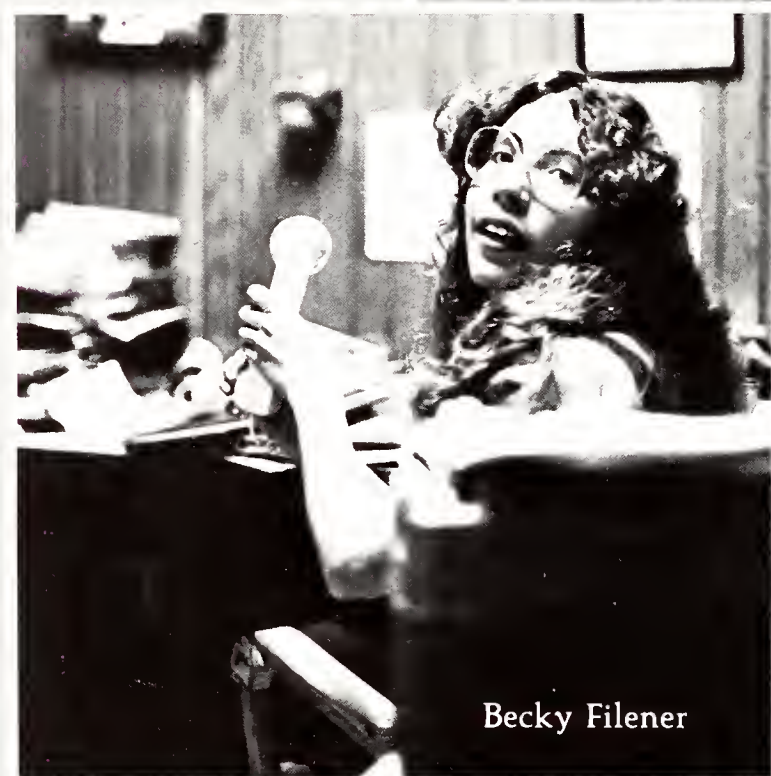

Bruce Schreiner took over as sports editor for the second half of the year, Sue Smith became city editor, Cindy Schuler was appointed entertainment editor, Mark Howard moved to production manager, while Mark Small was copy editor. Carmen Abate and Bo Costello were the circulation directors.

Bill Bidwell was faculty adviser.

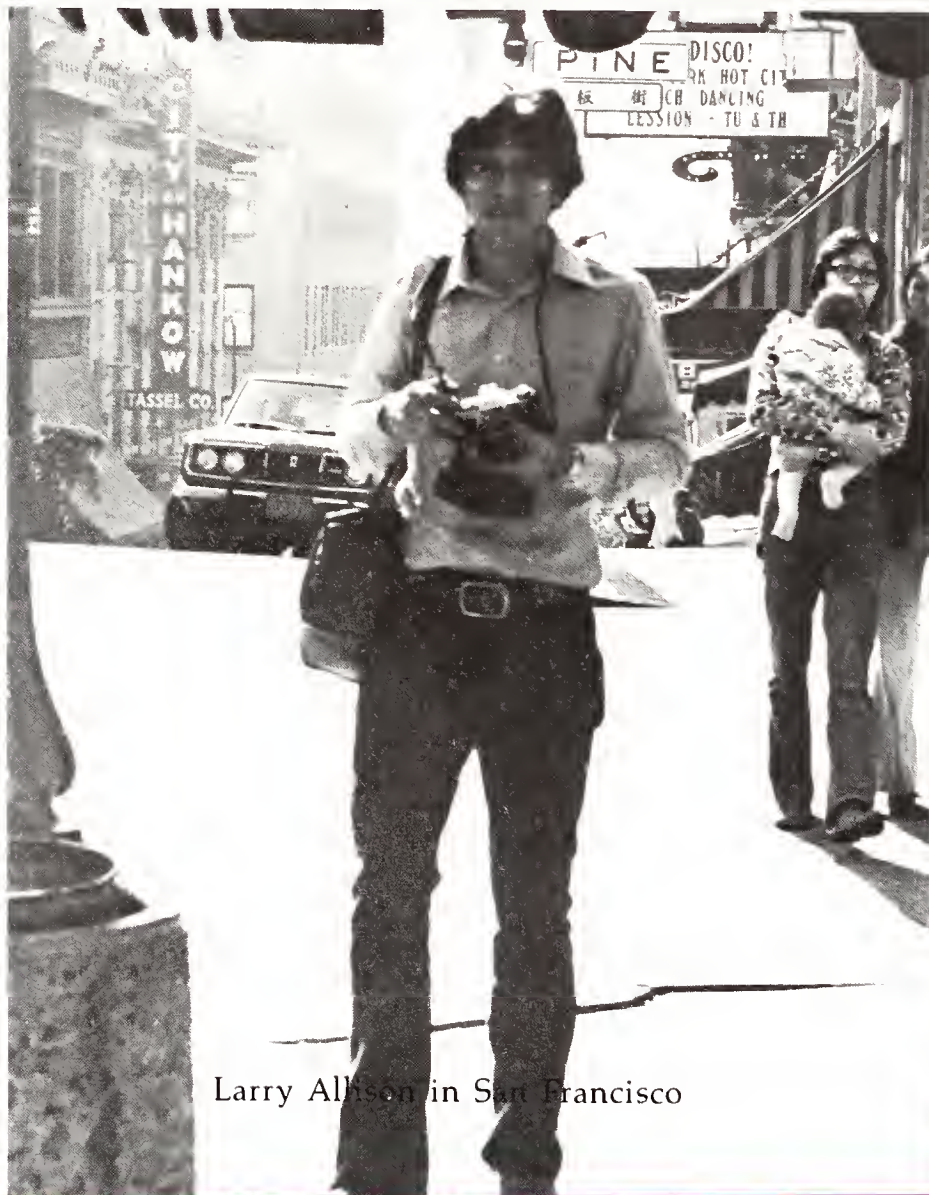

Late in the second semester, the Board of Trustees purchased a CompWriter IV. The computerized photocomposition typesetting equipment provided another aspect of journalism production for students.

Yearbook adds color

The book is "stronger" this year in photography than in previous years, according to Jo Rogers, yearbook adviser, due to the fact that the staff used color and due to the fact that more photographers were available to go on location and "shoot."

Holtom and Mrs. Rogers attended the national convention in San Francisco in the fall. The staff also took a field trip to Topeka to visit the plant where the yearbook is printed.

1979-80 is the year of many crises:

The '79-80 school term became known by many as the "year of the crises." Students faced gas shortages, a lack of local activities, the take-over of the American embassy in Iran, and possible resumption of the military draft, this time including women.

Students began the fall semester when oil shortages were rampant and gasoline prices were rising steadily finally reaching well above the dollar mark. Out of gas as well as money, students found that El Dorado was not a college-oriented town. The lack of a movie house, college-oriented taverns and dancing places left students no alternative than to drive 26 gas-guzzling miles into Wichita.

Students were asked at random for suggestions for "more to do" in El Dorado. A few comments included:

Jeff Harr, Topeka freshman: "The only thing to do is to sleep,

"Bryan Ackley, McPherson freshman: "I suppose something like a disco; at least, I think El Dorado is a big enough city to support something like that."

Wanita Miller, El Dorado freshman: "I think a full time movie theatre would be good because it costs to go clear to Wichita, and when you don't have a car it's kind of difficult to get there."

Students were also given the opportunity to voice their opinions on changing to a four-day instructional week at BCCC as a means of conserving energy.

Jeff Bronaugh, St. Mary's, Ks. freshman: "Alright. It would give more time to be home on weekends."

Jill Herpich, White City sophomore: "A four-day week would be great. One trip per week cut from everyone's schedule would help."

Larry Allison, Benton sophomore: "I think it would be a great idea except for one and one-half hour classes every day."

As the year progressed students watched "anti-nukes" rally against the building of nuclear power plants for fear of the harmful poisons found in the waste materials from the plants. No safe answer for disposing of the deadly wastes has been devised.

In November the American embassy in Iran was attacked by militant Iranian students who opposed the former reign of the exiled Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi. Sixty Americans were taken as hostages. The captors demanded the return of the shah for the release of the hostages. The shah, dying of cancer had found refuge in the United States who in return refused to return him to his former country.

The seige had not ceased in February. Students spoke out on this issue with varying beliefs.

Loresa Duncan, sophomore: "I

Whittaker favors registration for men

gasoline, Iranian hostages, registration think that if the Iranians do anything to the hostages we will retaliate militarily. If we took over an embassy, we'd be blasted out of it."

Ron Peters, freshman: "It's not our place to send the Shah back. The Iranian students shouldn't hold the Americans hostages. If the time comes when we have to use military tactics, we should take action against the Iranians."

Tooran and Lran Mobaraki, sophomores: "The shah killed many people. He stole 22 million dollars from Iran. The country needs the money. The main reason we want the shah is because of the money he stole from the people of Iran."

"The reason we took those 60 Americans as hostages was that they were informing Americans of the problems going on in Iran, like spies. But they (hostages) are being cared for and we do not intend to kill any of them, only hold them until we get the shah or the money returned that he has stolen from Iran."

Mojgan Latifi, sophomore, "I don't believe in violence; I am not a violent person. It is bad to hold hostages."

When students arrived on campus to begin second semester studies they were faced with the possibility of resumption of the military draft. Soviet forces had invaded Afghanistan threatening surrounding countries of possible overthrow by the aggressive Soviet Union. President Carter made plans to boycott the summer Olympics in Moscow if the Soviet Union did not remove its forces from Afghanistan and asked for resumption of the draft.

On campus students were asked their opinion of the proposal by President Carter to register young men and women for the draft.

Connie Muzny, sophomore; "I think the (women) should be drafted right along with the men. It's all a part of equality."

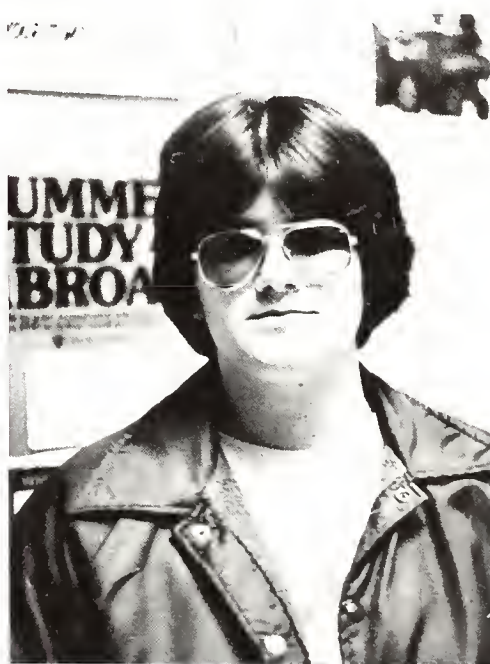

Bruce Beckham, sophomore: "I believe draft registration is fine but I don't think we should draft anybody until war breaks out."

Steve Moss, freshman: "I am in favor of it. I think the mood has changed since the early 70's and late 60's from the Vietnam confrontation. I'm kind of glad to see it come back although I'm not in favor of actually serving. The registration is nothing though it just says we'll be there if anything ever happens."

Frank Whitzell, sophomore: "I feel that it's nothing really important, at this time they're just registering people for the draft to just show Russia that we aren't fooling around."

Lisha Hughes, freshman: "I think it's fine for the men, they should fight for the country, but I don't think women should have to go to the front lines or even be registered."

Bob Watts, sophomore: "I'm an American and I'm for it."

CRC: supportive service

A supportive service to BCCC, the Community Resource Center in El Dorado taught adults lacking high school educations, referred students to BCCC, and became a downtown representative for BCCC.

Instructors of the center prepared adults and tested for GED's, taught "English as a second language," to foreign students and supplied an Adult Basic Education program which taught pure basics, like how to read and write.

The center also provided the community with graduate courses from Kansas State University through Telenet. This system consisting of microphones and telephones, allowed students from all over Kansas to listen to lectures and talk to instructors without having to be in the classroom.

Joy Choens was the coordinator for the center, and Carol Klein was the curriculum supervisor. Instructors included Mary Seymour and Harriet Detwiller. Jean Plummer, director of public information at BCCC worked with the center, along with Ethel Dunsmoor, secretary.

SAC leads

Student Activity Council members spent the year planning and carrying out social activities for students. The group got off to a rolling start with an all school skate party and surveys on the courses students wanted at BCCC.

SAC members teamed up for "One Last Fling" in late September in which merchants of El Dorado participated in a "day of acting silly." Later a community water-mellon feed provided a successfull attempt of SAC to get the community involved with BCCC.

To promote school spirit SAC organized pep assemblies, car caravans, and homecoming activities, such as parades, crowning, and dances. KEYN disc jockey Denny Collier hosted the Fall Homecoming dance.

Pie throwing contract sales totaled $75 for the local United Way Fund Drive this year and the fall semester ended with a Christmas dance.

Spring semester brought a SAC sponsored ski trip to Winter Park, Colo., Winter Homecoming, and a St. Patrick's day dance.

Student leaders this year included sophomores Glenda Boone, president; Lori Carr, vice-president; and Dianne Graves, secretary-treasurer.

DECA does it

Tom Esquivias, DECA president, was elected DECA state historian at a Kansas DECA fall delegate assembly at Emporia in October. His duties as a historian are writing a newsletter for DECA chapters and preparing a state activities scrapbook.

Several members attended the fall assembly where they went to workshops to learn how to motivate and encourage others to be leaders.

Jim Edwards, DECA sponsor and 9 members traveled to Minneapolis to attend a leadership conference. The theme of the conference was "Dress for Success."

During the first semester DECA held a garage and bake sale and raised $150.

In February DECA held a marathon dance to raise money for muscular dystrophy. They raised $2,715.75 over their goal of $1,500. Forty-five high school and college students (only four from BCCC) attended the dance. Of the four BCCC students, Steve Fountain and Laura Bailey won most of the prizes. The dance started at 10 a.m. Feb. 23 and ended 24 hours later. Thirty out of forty-five finished the marathon.

DECA also presented a survey to determine why people were attending BCCC, and what their main interests were.

DECA has 15 members this year. On the board were: Tom Esquivias as president; Dan Helmer, vice-president; Kim Osborn, secretary; Mike Swigart, treasurer; Glenda Riddle, parliamentarian; Chuck Rogers, project chairman; Erick Anderson, reporter. Other members are Janet Soden, Chris Brault, Jeff Tolbert, Garvin Mead, Jill Koger, Clay Hillwig, and Cecil Black.

One frat on campus

Delta Psi Omega, a drama fraternity, is the only national honor society on campus. "The purpose of this organization is to support all theatre activities on campus and strive for the highest quality theatre events," said Larry Peters, Delta Psi Omega sponsor.

In 1935, a charter began on this campus with L.W. Nixon as the sponsor. Now there are seven chapters in Kansas and 202 national fraternities.

First semester Delta Psi Omega gave "student of the week" awards to people around campus who were picked at random. Among these awards were: "Brain of the Week," "Dieter of the Week," "Babbler of the Week," and "Cook of the Week." The group started giving awards as a method of publicizing the group.

Students are invited to become members of Delta Psi Omega on the basis of their involvement with the theatre. After being invited, students attend a formal ceremony where they are asked questions relating to Delta Psi Omega. Some of the questions are: how many fraternities are in Kansas; What is the Greek alphabet; How to memorize and how to present a monologue?

Officers of Delta Psi Omega this year are: Terri Ingram, president; Jerry Elmore, vice-president; Gay Linn Thomas, secretary-treasurer. Larry Peters is the sponsor.

Other members of this fraternity are Greg May, Terry Dickson, Bob Nellans, Liane Kohls, David Lockard, Mark Martens, Kirk Merwin, and Wanita Miller.

Plays for all seasons

"A Man for All Seasons," was the first play of the year opening Oct. 25 for a three-night run. The tragedy by Robert Bolt portrayed Sir Thomas More (Donald C. Gilliland) in his last years as Lord Chancellor of England during the reign of Henry VIII.

When Henry fails to obtain from the Pope a divorce from Catherine of Aragon, in order to marry Ann Boleyn, he rebels by requiring his subjects to sign the Act of Supremacy, making him both spiritual and temporal leader of England.

More could not in conscience comply and Thomas Cromwell (Bob Nellans), Cardinal Wolsey (Virgil Miller) and the king himself (Darren Highbarger) could not get a commitment from him. His silence ultimately leads to his execution.

Other cast members included John Hamm; Mike Musick; Jerry Elmore; Marcia McCoy; Gay Linn Thomas; Terrance Dickson; Kirk Merwin; Bill Stuenkel; Lana Greenup; and Thad Wilson.

"Plaza Suite," a group of three comedy plays by Neil Simon, was the second production of the year opening Dec. 6 for a three-night run.

The first play involves a couple who stays at the hotel while their house is being painted. They realize it's the same room they stayed in on their honeymoon 23 (or 24) years ago.

The second play is the story of a producer from Hollywood who is looking for a new lover after three marriages, so he calls a childhood sweetheart who turns out to be more than he bargained for.

The final play shows a mother and father trying to get their daughter out of the bathroom in the Plaza Suite hotel room and down to the ballroom to her wedding.

Cast members included Terri Ingram, John Hamm, David Lockard, Kirk Merwin, Ally Lucas, Jerry Elmore, Marcia McCoy, Lana Greenup, Thad Wilson, Charles Crawford, and Linda Roberts. Larry Peters was the theater director of both plays.

PERIOD PLAYS and modern plays are given at Butler. (1) From l. to r., Mike Musick, Bob Nellans, Don Gilliland portray respectively, Richard Rich, Oliver Cromwell, and Sir Thomas More from the play of the reign of Henry VIII. (2) Jerry Elmore and Darren Highbarger play the Duke of Norfolk and King Henry VIII. (3) John Hamm is the executioner representing "common man." (4) Gay Linn Thomas portrays Lady Margaret who is with Sir Thomas. (5) "Plaza Suite" cast members include John Hamm as Sam Nash and Terri Ingram as Karen Nash. (6) Musick and Nellans. (7) Nellans and Elmore.

Nurses plan careers

BCCC's nursing department had high hopes of expanding educational opportunities this year as it worked on adopting three new programs including respiratory therapy, hospital nurse's aide training, and medical assistant. In addition a career ladder was in the making where one year students would receive licensed practical nursing degrees, and two year students would receive registered nursing degrees.

BCCC's nursing program has four phases. Nursing I covering basic nursing skills, Nursing II involving psychiatric nursing, Nursing III involving OB and pediatrics care, and IV which is medical surgical procedures. Hospitals in El Dorado, Augusta, Newton, and Wichita served as extended campuses. The program also includes Certified Medication Aide training.

This year's instructors included Cindy Boyle and Virginia Sheets as clinical instructors, and Charles Portis and Elmo Waldbey as theory instructors.

Nursing IV class officers this year included: Tom Flynn, president; Ofelia Santiago, student representative; Linda Pinkston, vice-president; Jeanne Davis, secretary; and Ricky Rivera, treasurer.

Nursing I class officers included Margaret Patterson, president; Kim Boettcher, vice-president; Darla Piersall, secretary, and Diana Dyck, student representative.

FRESHMEN CLASS officers include: Diana Dyck, Margaret Patterson, Valerie Kjergaard and Darla Piersall.

SOPHOMORE CLASS officers include: Jeanne Davis, Tom Flynn, Ofelia Santiago, Rick Rivera, and Alice Goering.

New Club, Rodeo - 4-H

The BCCC chapter of 4-H was expanded this year becoming the BCCC Rodeo 4-H club combining two groups with common goals. "The two groups have some a few things in common," Daniel Ensiz said, "split apart it would be hard to get a viable group of students."

Some members of the team were contestants in the Central Plains Region in National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association (NIRA) sanctioned rodeos. The season started late in March and Ensiz expected to meet with tough competition.

Members worked at the 4-H stand at the Kansas State Fair and judged 4-H projects in addition to attending and competing in rodeos.

Student leaders included Brenda Higgs, president, Jim Kelly, vice president, and Sally Lucas, secretary/treasurer.

Music groups perform

BCCC Band members under the direction of Doug Talbott played at all home football and basketball games this year. During the first semester, the band presented two community concerts in the auditorium where several non-student musicians helped swell the ranks.

At the athletic games, the band members wore new "gold" tee shirts emblazoned with a grizzly on the front and sported striped caps.

Jazz Band is made up of a few College Band members and several other college students. These musicians went on tour to high schools including Remington, Valley Center, and El Dorado Junior High School and Towanda Grade School. The Jazz Band also performed for the Chamber of Commerce, the Life Enrichment program, a Labor dinner, the downtown "Last Fling," and gave two public concerts. Within the Jazz Band are two combos that presented concerts to different groups.

The Collegiate Singers under the direction of Kitty Michot presented two concerts, one at the beginning of the year and a Christmas concert. Other appearances were planned for second semester.

Winter celebrated

Tim Trent and Brenda Wedman were crowned Winter Homecoming King and Queen at the halftime ceremony of the Grizzlie -Conquistador game.

Trent was nominated by the Grizzlies basketball team and Wedman by the Grizzliettes basketball team.

Other candidates serving as attendants were Mindy Fountain, chosen by the Grizzlies, Glenda Boone and Laird Powell by the women's softball team, Pat Chatman and Paul Adams were chosen by the track team, and Ron Ragan was chosen by the Grizzliettes.

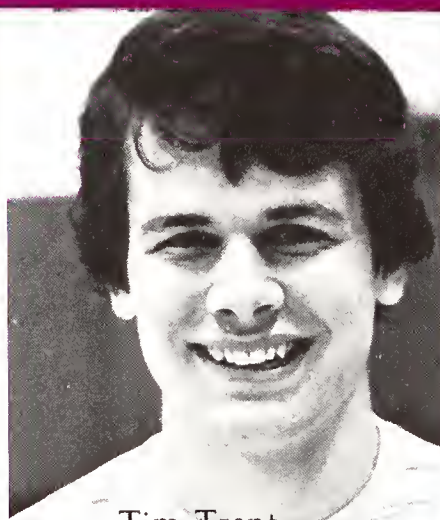

During the crowning ceremony Liane Kohls sang "Through the Eyes of Love." It is the theme from the movie "Ice Castles" which was the homecoming theme.

A dance followed the games with "Jabber" providing the music.

A soup-and-sandwich supper for alumni was served in the Purple and Gold room during Homecoming weekend. Alumni also were guests of the homecoming basketball games.

Students own Union

New home, new life, new peril

Many students take the "easy living" of home life for granted until they live in an apartment of their own. Meals could always be counted on, beds were usually made, the house was always neat and clean, and mom could usually be persuaded to keep students clothes washed and ironed as long as the student remained in the security of his family's home. Rent, food, and utility bills never entered the minds of these students.

Students living off campus and away from home found that the responsibilities that automatically comes with renting an apartment while attending college could no longer be taken for granted. Attending classes, working part and full time jobs, paying bills, and keeping house kept these students on the run.

Because college students are often low on cash, they decorate their apartments using inexpensive odds and ends. Dirty shirts, socks, and jeans make handy chair coverings; gum wrappers, photographs, and grafitti spice up the walls; and beer cans give apartments an ancient air when stacked pyramid style.

Dishes are stacked with great skill until the student finally breaks down and washes a few. Clothing finds its way into a washing machine only when there is an epidemic of underwear shortages. Although the neatness of it all might remind you of something like a dump, students living in these apartments think of it as "home sweet home."

Out on their own for the first time, many students become their own boss. Students must choose whether or not to party all night and face the agony of early morning classes, or slip into bed early and wake-up without that all too familiar zombie look. With so much "freedom" that students receive living on their own it would seem that they would have plenty of time to do what they want, including study. Usually books are kept out of sight though and studies are neglected causing grades to often times suffer.

Survival of the fittest reigns.

Dorm life gives 'belonging' feeling

Real people, some of whom are real students, call the dormitory their home for the school term.

Life at the dorm was seldom dull or even tranquil where 115 people had to co-exist in sometimes less than the most desirable conditions.

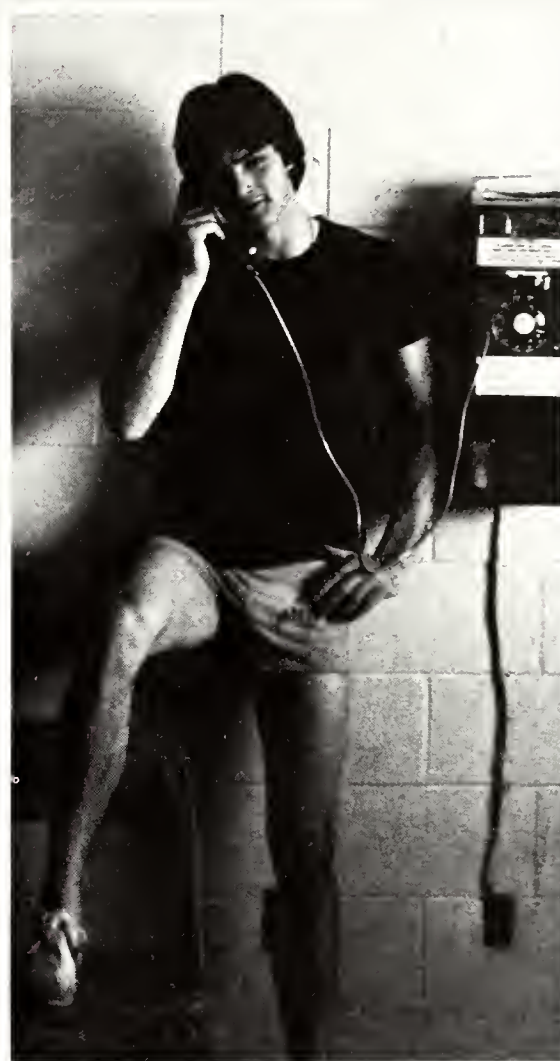

Nevertheless, the fact they did live on the campus gave the dorm residents the feeling that they were an integral part of the campus and that they "belonged." The residents were the most active participants in the school social activities such as dances and roller skating parties.

At least half of the students abandoned the dorm each weekend, but out-of-state students were "trapped" on the north end of the campus.

The night beat

Butler students are somewhat limited in their off-campus social "night" life in El Dorado. The only downtown movie house closed last year. The Star-vu movie drive-in had a short life as it soon closed for the winter season. And Rudy's, the local "hangout," closed over Christmas break leaving the students without a place to unwind and relax.

But this did not stop the love of the night life for BCCC students. The El Dorado Skate Center gave students a place to "skate" off some steam. The First Baptist Church Christian Life Center attracted students to Foosball, pool, and family fun. When neither of these would do, Butler County students would drive into Wichita to the College hangout called Pogo's for an evening of dancing and reveling.
